Stepping Stone Pre-School visualises a child's early development as a series of foundation stones and building blocks. Children learn different aspects of life while playing, hence the system of education at Stepping Stone is the fun way method. This whole programme is based on games and activities, but while there are lots of fun they all contribute towards the development of a child. Your child will grow up in the 7th century. S/he will live in a world of even faster change and complexities than we have experienced. A world that will reward the ability to adapt quickly, to think logically and to be innovative. Hence we focus on the fun-da-mentals so that your child is equally competitive when s/he ventures into the world outside.
